ANDERSON (Edward L.). Modern Horsemanship. A New Method of Teaching Riding and Training, by Means of Pictures from Life. Fourth edition, revised and enlarged, with forty photogravure plates, pp. xviii + 164 . . . . . $5 50

"Since the day in which Xenophon, the old Greek leader of the famous 'ten thousand,' introduced the subject of equitation to the literary world, a host of books have been constantly appearing upon it, and especially so during the nineteenth century. In all this mass of literature I look in vain for any work upon this subject which is more exact, more faithful, or more intelligent than Anderson's! It is to the amateur equestrian a mine of useful knowledge, so pleasantly set forth that a study of it becomes a pleasure. Certainly it is, and should be, a source of pride to American horsemen that such a hand-book of equitation should have emanated from one of their countrymen."—T. GAILLARD THOMAS, M.D.

". . . Captain Anderson has made horsemanship a subject of study for over twenty-five years, about half of which, with this purpose in view, were spent in Europe. . . . The latest edition, through continued study and criticism, has been decidedly improved in matter and arrangement."—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

"The rules and directions are so plainly stated, and are so admirably illustrated by photographs from life, that an intelligent reader will have no difficulty in putting them into practice."—N. Y. Tribune.

"This book is an eminently successful one, and one which can be read with profit and advantage."—Boston Times.

"This is comparatively a fresh theme, and whether or not we agree with the author's views, it is worth while to read what he says, as very much can be learned from any timely discussion of the subject. Trusts have suddenly grown into giants, and it is well for every one to have some idea of their shape and proportions."—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

BROOKS (E. S.). A Son of Issachar. A Romance of the days of Messias. 16mo, pp. vi + 293 . . . . . $1 25

It is a stirring story of life and experiences during the closing days of Christ's ministry, and is, in reality, the romance of the son of the widow of Nain and the daughter of Jairus. As one of the three prize stories published by the Detroit Free Press, it has already created a profound impression in the columns of so thoroughly secular a journal, and its appearance in book form will arouse an even wider interest in its dramatic situations, its strong character-studies, and its vivid pictures of the communities which witnessed the career and heard the teachings of Christ.

CHURCH (Alfred J.). To the Lions. A Story of the Persecutions of the Christians under the Early Roman Empire. 12mo, illustrated, pp. 253. Uniform with "Three Greek Children." $1 25

"The historical characters, as well as the imaginary personages of the story, are brought before us with all the skill of a scholar who is perfectly familiar with the history and literature of the period with which he deals. . . . No one will find the book at all of the nature of an antiquarian treatise, or will lay it down without reading it eagerly to the end."—London Spectator.

"The story is calculated to give the reader a vivid idea of the stirring times and incidents with which it deals. The author has skilfully interwoven history with fiction, and has succeeded in producing a very readable and instructive book."—American Israelite, Cincinnati.

COLLIS (Mrs. General Charles H. T.). A Woman's War Record. 16mo, illustrated . . . . . 75 cts.

"I spent a most delightful hour in reading your book, not content until I had finished the last page. Your memory of places and people astonishes me, and the lights and shadows of the war-pictures that you have painted, prove you to be a true artist. The Lincoln reminiscences stir my heart to its depths."—Extract from letter of Hon. John Wanamaker.

CRANE (T. F., Professor of the Romance Languages in Cornell University). La Société Française au Dix-septième Siècle. An account of French Society in the XVIIth Century in its Relations to the Literature of the Period. With introduction, bibliography, and notes. Vol. III. French Classics for American Students. Uniform with "Le Romantisme Français." 12mo, pp. lvii + 342 . . . . . $1 50

"It is a charming piece of work. Apart from its merits as a text-book (which are conspicuous), it has the additional interest of an historico-sociological monograph, most skilfully compiled. I have seen no French text-book which is more instructive and entertaining."—Prof. H. H. BOYESEN, Columbia College.

"Professor Crane's 'Tableaux de la Révolution française' and 'Le Romantisme français' have had a deserved success, yet it is doubtful whether these books possess a degree of usefulness equal to that which will be found in his 'La Société française au Dix-septième Siècle.' No period in the literary history of France is fraught with so much interest as that famous seventeenth century which French historians have proudly dubbed le grand siècle. . . . The student, with the aid of this little volume, may obtain a very satisfactory glimpse of that society which had its birth in the Hôtel Rambouillet, whence its influence spread until it prepared the mind for the literary marvels of Louis XIV.'s reign. The introduction and the copious notes at the end of the book contain much valuable information."—The Nation.

DABNEY (W. D., formerly Chairman Committee on Railroads and Internal Navigation in the Legislature of Virginia). The Public Regulation of Railways. ("Questions of the Day" series, No. 60). 12mo, pp. v + 281 . . . . . $1 25

DIX (Edwin Asa, Ex-Fellow in History of the College of New Jersey). A Midsummer Drive through the Pyrenees. 12mo, cloth extra, illustrated, gilt top, rough edges, pp. 332, $1 75

"It is a gem of book manufacture, such as G. P. Putnam's Sons so often put before the public, printed on heavy laid paper, with wide margins, in clear-cut type, and with illustrations of high merit. Mr. Dix's story is told in a fascinating manner worthy of such artistic accompaniments. It is written in a style of classic dignity and beauty, while at the same time the interest is charmingly sustained. The sketches of places are graphically given, and are interspersed with historical narrations of great value."—N. Y. Observer.

"So sympathetic and so well-informed a traveller is seldom encountered, and every page of his book can be thoroughly enjoyed."—N. Y. Tribune.

"Seldom does a book of travel come to our table which is so much like a trip itself as this one is. Upon closing the last leaf we feel as if we had been with the writer."—Public Opinion.

Mr. Harrison says he makes 'no pretentions to literary merit,' and yet he possesses it in a good, direct, simple, and readable style. . . . But he can write a good book of travel, and he has done so."—Chicago Tribune.

"The book is splendidly illustrated with engravings, selected, whether purposely or not, to display forests, architecture of the new and the architectural marvels of the old world. Mr. Harrison, as a traveller, is always in fine spirits; he never permits a reference to aching limbs or wearied physique to mar the enjoyable quality of his narrative."—Philadelphia Ledger.

HENDERSON (John C.). Thomas Jefferson's Views on Public Education. With a new portrait of Jefferson engraved for this work from the painting by THOMAS SULLY. 8vo, pp. viii + 387 . . . . . $1 75

"The title of this book is doubly attractive. In the writings of Thomas Jefferson the true philosophy of politics is found crystallized into forms of perfect symmetry. The views of the great statesman who, in the Declaration of Independence, integrated all the previous history of civil liberty are worthy of the most thoughtful consideration, whatever be the theme. But especially instructive is it to have presented to us the opinions of so profound a thinker upon a subject of such vital importance to the well-being of our country as public education."—Public Opinion.

"Jefferson's idea of the school and of a pattern university are well worth studying, and these are clearly presented in the work before us."—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

HUBERT (P. G., Jr.). Liberty and a Living. How to get Bread and Butter, Sunshine and Health, Leisure and Books, without Slaving Away One's Life. 16mo, with frontispiece, pp. 239 . . . . . $1 00

"He writes most charmingly. Of the works treating of kindred subjects, his possesses a grace and interest comparable to the very best of those of his predecessors."—Nation.

"The author writes so charmingly, his enthusiasm is so contagious, his scorn of materialism so generous, that he becomes dangerously persuasive. There is undoubtedly solid sense in his dictum that most of us 'pay too much for our money,' purchasing it, as we do, at the expense of leisure, of self-cultivation, and of health."—Boston Daily Advertiser.

"This is a book for the times, calculated to assist a person in answering for himself the pressing question, 'What am I good for?' The author has evidently followed Thoreau through the woods and Webster over the farm, has made a study of 'Ten Acres Enough,' and competitive volumes; and better still, has taken up experimentally out-of-door liberty in connection with making a living for himself and others. It is a bright narrative, and the buyer and reader will have his reward."—Journal of Education.

——— The Nursery Lesson Book. A guide for mothers in teaching young children. Fifty easy lessons, each lesson combining simple and progressive instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic, drawing, and singing. 8vo, boards, pp. 74 . . 75 cts.

"It is hard to decide which will learn most from this book—the mother or the child. The author has the kindergarten idea, but applies it without a mass of formulæ. A subject is introduced by name and picture, and a few questions are given; with these and such others as the child is sure to ask the mother is expected to develop the faculty of inquiry, which in ordinary schools is severely let alone. The pictures are drawing lessons, and as all are in outline, the child will have no difficulty in following them. The book is admirably adapted to its purpose."—N. Y. Herald.

IRELAND (Wm. W., author of "The Blot on the Brain."). Through the Ivory Gate. Being Studies in Psychology and History. 8vo, pp. vii + 311 . . . . . $3 00

"'Through the Ivory Gate' may be considered as the second volume of the author's historical and psychological studies. The personages treated in it are not historically as important as those who form the subject of the preceding volume, 'The Blot on the Brain,' but the writing is equally clear and terse, and Dr. Ireland has again to be congratulated on his excellence of work. His biographical sketches of Swedenborg, Charles Guiteau, Louis Riel, Thcebau of Burmah, etc., are highly interesting reading. His critical examination of their mental state is a valuable contribution to the study of psychology and forensic medicine, and should do much to assist our legal brethren and legislators in interpreting and framing laws dealing with questions of lunacy."—Dublin Journal of Medical Science.

"To the student of mental phenomena this volume is entrancing."—Cincinnati Lancet-Clinic.

"The book is full of suggestion and interest for educators, and closes with a chapter on the place for the study of language in a curriculum of education. In this chapter Dr. Jacobi has put some original work, which well entitles her suggestions to serious consideration."—Boston Christian Register.

JAY (John). The Writings and Correspondence of John Jay, first Chief-Justice of the United States. Edited by Henry P. Johnston, Professor of American History in the College of the City of New York. The set is to be complete in four volumes octavo, uniform in size and style to the editions already issued of the writings of "Hamilton," "Franklin," and "Washington." The edition will, like these, be printed from type, and will be limited to 750 copies. Volume I. now ready. The remaining volumes will follow at intervals of about two months. Price, per volume $5 00

The limited editions printed of the "Hamilton" and "Franklin" were disposed of some months before the publication was completed, and these sets have accordingly very largely appreciated in value. A very large proportion of the edition of "Washington," now in course of publication, has been taken up in like manner, and but a small number of sets remain. Intending purchasers of the set of Jay's Writings should, therefore, have their orders placed on file at an early date.

This set is distinctive in one respect from the sets previously issued of the writings of the "Fathers of the Republic." The editor has found it desirable to include in it, in addition to the letters, journals, and decisions of Jay himself, a selection of the more important of the letters from his correspondents, and the work makes therefore a very interesting presentation of the noteworthy events and of the questions under discussion during the revolutionary period and during the first years of the Republic. A large portion of the material included in it is also now for the first time published, and the set will therefore form a contribution of first importance for the history of the country, and for that of the city and State of New York.

JESSOPP (Augustus, D.D.). The Trials of a Country Parson. 12mo, uniform with "Arcady" and "The Coming of the Friars," by the same author. Pp. xxx + 295 . . . . . $1 75

"The writings of Dr. Jessopp have attained deserved popularity with those who appreciate keen observation, delicate humor, a delightful unstudied facility and beauty of style, and a breadth of view by no means invariably found in men of his cloth. It is long since we have seen such striking and clever sketches of English peasant life as he has represented."—N. Y. Tribune.

"The essays which give a name to this volume depict, with the author's usual sagacity and humor, the efforts of the clergyman to elevate the life of the people in this country parish . . . The 'trials' in question are not a subject of complaint with the large-hearted author, but he devotes three essays to a temperate discussion of the reforms in the relation of the clergy to the people in the matter of tithes, freeholdings, and the like, which he deems advisable."—Literary World.

JUSSERAND (J. J.). English Wayfaring Life in the Middle Ages (Fourteenth Century). Translated from the French by Lucy Toulmin Smith. New and cheaper edition. Pp. 451, fully illustrated $3 50

Many of the illustrations are taken from illuminated manuscripts, and have never been published before.

"We can heartily recommend this book as one of the pleasantest and most carefully executed pictures of a side of English mediæval life that we have met with for a long time."—Saturday Review.

"Have you seen a book just published by M. Jusserand, of the French Embassy, entitled 'English Wayfaring Life in the Middle Ages'? If not, let me assure you that the sooner you get it the better for yourself and your friends, for you are certain to talk about it, and talk out of it, and in proportion as you do so will the liveliness of your conversation be remarked upon! . . . a pleasure to handle, a joy to read, and bearing with it, when one gets to the end of it, a conviction that one has become a much more learned man than one was a week ago, for that somehow one has absorbed a great deal that the outer world knows little about."—AUGUSTUS JESSOPP IN THE Nineteenth Century.

——— The English Novel in the Time of Shakespeare. Translated from the French (under the supervision of the author) by Elizabeth Lee. Large octavo, with many illustrations, $6 00

"The compiler has not tried to make a complete collection of fairy poetry, but has used a wise discrimination; and the reader can but praise the result. The illustrations are after designs by Maud Humphrey, and are remarkably good."—Congregationalist.

"In brief, it is a charming collection made with both taste and skill."—Boston Advertiser.

XXV. Sesame and Lilies. By John Ruskin. Pp. 265 . . $1 00

"There is something encouraging in the fact that such a work as Ruskin's 'Sesame and Lilies' is being widely read, and it is taken for granted that such is the fact from the number of editions that have recently been published in this country. The Herald has noticed several, but none of them equal in beauty the handsome Knickerbocker Nugget copy."—Rochester Morning Herald.

"Mr. Ruskin presents in these lectures truly 'thoughtful thoughts,' which will give pleasure to the ordinary reader and profit to the introspective one. . . . Abounds in some of the choicest thought of a master-mind, inspiring and ennobling."—Boston Times.

"The translation is an excellent one, and the books are, in printing and binding, perfect gems. As for their contents, it need only be said that the life of Goethe, written by himself, is a classic, with which every one claiming to be conversant with modern literature must acquaint himself. It is worth reading, because nothing concerning the great poet can be without interest and value."—Chicago School Journal.

"It is decidedly interesting, this account by the great German poet of his early life, and it will be read with pleasure by all his admirers."—Dubuque Herald.

MACLAY (Arthur Collins, author of "A Budget of Letters from Japan"). Mito Yashiki. A Tale of Old Japan. Being an Historic Romance Descriptive of Feudal Life in Japan at the Time of the Visit of Commodore Perry, and Detailing the Downfall of the Tokugawa Dynasty of Shoguns, 1853-68. 12mo, pp. v + 456, $1 50

"A story of singular and fascinating interest. The duel between Junzo and the spy; the tortures once so common and now abolished in Japan; the sojourn of the family in Kii; the marriage of the lovers; and many other incidents, are related with skill and power. Very few pictures of feudal Japan have as yet been made available to the Western world, and this sketch by Mr. Maclay is the best yet drawn by a foreigner."—The Nation, New York.

"'Mito Yashiki' is altogether an interesting and instructive tale of Old Japan that deserves a wide constituency of readers. The author is especially pleasing in his pen-pictures of travel and scenery; quite happy in his representations of the ludicrous, and very apt in his delineations of Japanese manners, customs, and character.—The Japan Mail, Yokohama.

MASON (E. T.). The Othello of Tommaso Salvini. A Study. With frontispiece $1 00

Nelson and the Naval Supremacy of England. By W. Clark Russell, author of "The Wreck of the Grosvenor," "The Life of William Dampier," etc., with the collaboration of Wm. H. Jaques, late U. S. N. 8vo, fully illustrated. Cloth, extra, $1.50; half morocco, uncut edges, gilt top, $1.75. Large paper, planned for extra illustrations (only 250 copies printed for subscribers to the first group of the Heroes Series) $3 50

The "Nelson" forms the initial volume of the new series, "Heroes of the Nations," which is under the editorial supervision of Evelyn Abbott, M.A., Fellow of Balliol College, Oxford.

Curiously enough, no one of the previous biographers of Nelson had any personal knowledge of the sea, and Southey, whose memoir has shown the most enduring popularity of all, was probably entirely ignorant of nautical matters.

Mr. Russell's narrative, on the other hand, while carefully studied as to the facts and the history, is as breezy and as briny and as full of stirring incidents and dramatic situations as any of the best of his stories.

"No romance could possess a deeper interest, and certainly none could reveal a more thorough mastery of material or an imagination more entirely co-operating with the purpose and knowledge of the writer. The story is told with a spirit and an impulse which carry the reader along from page to page without pause or break to the very end."—Christian Union.

"These lectures are chiefly interesting as coming from a Russian who has lived out of Russia long enough to make an independent acquaintance with English and American writers."—N. Y. Eve. Post.

"Mr. Panin's English is very trenchant, his critical faculty keen, though without bitterness; the arrangement of his lectures is straightforward and simple. For keen and scholarly analysis, nothing like his lectures have been heard in the city before."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

PARSONS (Albert Ross). Parsifal: The Finding of Christ through Art, or Richard Wagner as Theologian. 8vo $1 00

"Mr. Parsons has been a wide reader, and is a deep thinker. His studies of Wagner at first hand have enabled him to give this remarkable interpretation of the theological significance of the great German master. Among the signs of the times, few are more striking to the thoughtful observer than the fact, brought out by this work, that the man who confessedly stands at the head of modern music, and who has been popularly supposed to have represented the Pagan Renaissance, did in reality travel the historic path by which humanity climbed out of Paganism into Christianity, and made his rich and noble art a veritable Finding of Christ."—All Souls Monthly (Episcopal).

PEALE (Margaret). In the Time of the Cherry Viewing. An Episode in Japan. 16mo, paper . . . . . 25 cts.

"The story is told with striking truth to the far-Oriental background and environment."—Nation.

"A complete and conveniently arranged hand-book of the difficulties in English pronunciation."—Cambridge Tribune.

PLATT (James, author of "Business," "Life," etc.). Money. 16mo, pp. xi + 267 . . . . . 75 cts.

"There is good reason for the good name that this work has earned, for it is an easy, yet full description of the principles pertaining to money. . . . There is abundant reason for producing a work like this, stating monetary principles in language familiar to the ordinary mind, yet doing so thoroughly, thus rendering the thoughtful reader a true conqueror of this branch of economic knowledge."—The Banker's Magazine.

"'Money' and 'Life,' by James Platt, F.S.S. These two little volumes by an English author, the first and oldest of which has enjoyed a great popularity in England, owe their value to a forceful, lucid, and popular treatment of problems which affect every one engaged in active life."—Advance.

——— Life. Uniform with "Money." 16mo, pp. 318 . 75 cts.

"It treats in its various parts a number of subjects in a most masterly way. Among these will be found 'Life,' 'Is Life Worth Living?' Common-Sense,' 'Human Destiny,' etc. The work has a strong English caste, but this is one of its charms."—Indiana Christian Advocate.

"It is a healthful discussion, from a scientific and common-sense view, of the most prominent points in a life that is worth living. Ripened thoughts and also seed thoughts are upon every page."—Boston Journal of Education.

"A very timely monograph has just been issued, entitled 'The Story of the Bacteria.' It is from the pen of Dr. T. Mitchell Prudden, whose practical work as director of the physiological and pathological laboratory of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York has made him an authority on such subjects. Recognizing the fact that the live questions of the day are chiefly of a sanitary nature, Dr. Prudden has put into concise and readable form just what every intelligent person ought to know in order to be abreast of the time. . . . The book is completed by an excellent index, and is printed with the care always found in the publications of G. P. Putnam's Sons."—Albany Times.

——— Dust and its Dangers. Illustrated. . . . . 75 cts.

This little book has been written with the purpose of informing people, in simple language, what the real danger is of acquiring serious disease, especially consumption, by means of dust-laden air, and how this danger may be avoided.—Extract from Author's Preface.

There is originality and suggestiveness enough withal to keep the thoughtful reader on the alert and to assure him that even yet the possibilities of fruitful development in theistic study are by no means exhausted."—Alleghany Presbyterian Reformed Review.

"President Purinton's work on 'Christian Theism' seems to me a remarkably good book, which may be strongly recommended to thoughtful readers, and is particularly well suited to be a text-book for classes. It treats of various sides of the subject, with vigorous thought, clear arrangement and in a style that is at once terse and lucid."—JOHN A. BROADUS, D.D., LL.D., President Southern Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

"One of the most fascinating of the 'Story of the Nations' series is Miss Susan Hale's 'Story of Mexico.' It is a difficult matter to write Mexico's history, but its story is one of the most charming ones. There are wonderful legends and traditions borne out by colossal ruins of splendid palaces, in which dwelt the luxurious rulers of the country. There are thrilling tales of conquest and bravery. . . . It is not too much to say that nowhere else within the same compass will be found so clear, accurate, vivid, and, at the same time, so thoroughly comprehensive a narrative of Mexico's past combined with a description of her future."—Boston Traveller.

WALPOLE (Horace). A Selection from Horace Walpole's Letters. Edited, with an introduction and notes, by Charles Duke Yonge. (Limited letter-press edition.) 2 vols., 8vo, half leather, gilt tops, edges uncut, pp. xxxi + 287 + ix + 322. With portraits and fac-similes $6 00

Horace Walpole's Letters, which afford perhaps the clearest and the most entertaining picture of English politics, literature, and manners of the latter half of the eighteenth century, have hitherto been only accessible in Cunningham's costly nine-volume edition. The present selection comprises the more valuable portion of the famous letters to Thomas Gray, the poet; Sir Horace Mann, and George Montague, and is designed chiefly for those who, while lacking leisure to attack the bulk of the correspondence, may welcome the opportunity of becoming acquainted with certainly the best letter-writer in the English language.

"The present selection has the recommendation of being judiciously made, and the edition is handy and, of course, economical. The collection gives sufficiently satisfying examples of the writer's versatility and the range of his tastes. The letters are in themselves very interesting. Horace Walpole was the Gréville of his time."—London Times.

"There can be only one opinion as to the beauty of this edition. The fine, laid, and uncalendered paper; the rough, uncut edges; the gilt tops; the wide margins; the large, clear type; the plentiful foot-notes; the ribbon markers; the syllabus of contents; the autograph fac-similes; the square-backed binding in maroon and black, with simple gilt lettering, make together a pair of books which are a pleasure to read and a prize to put away upon the shelf."—The Literary World.

WASHBURN (William T.). Spring and Summer; or, Blushing Hours. 16mo, pp. xi + 409 . . . . . $1 25

"A pleasing volume of verse, indeed. Pathos and sentiment and bright bits of description shine forth on all its pages."—Oregonian.

"He possesses a somewhat remarkable mastery of the forms of rhythmic and musical verse."—Advance.

"A monumental work of American Revolutionary history."

WASHINGTON (George). The Life of George Washington. By Washington Irving. Printed from type, and not stereotyped. Centennial edition, limited to three hundred sets, printed from type specially set for this edition, and distributed as soon as printed from. The set comprises five volumes, quarto, and contains 132 steel plates (many of these being printed on India paper), together with 42 wood-cuts, battle-plans, etc., the greater part on Japan paper, inlaid in the text. The steel plates include portraits of a large number of the statesmen and generals of the Revolutionary times, which are not accessible in any other single work. Irving's "Life of Washington" was the crowning work of this great and characteristically American author, and one to which he had given many years of thought and of labor. The work is of first importance, not merely as presenting a lifelike and faithful picture of the man who has been accepted as "the first citizen of the Republic," but on the ground of its admirably clear, comprehensive, and impartial narrative of the military operations of the Revolutionary war and of the founding of the Republic. Bryant said: "For Irving's Washington I predict a deathless renown." Prescott wrote of it: "A work as charming as it is trustworthy." The work is printed upon the finest ragged-edge vellum paper, the size of the leaf being 8 x 11 inches. The volumes are substantially bound with leather backs, cloth sides, and gilt tops, or they can be supplied, for those desiring the set for extra illustrations, unbound, in paper boxes. Price, in either style, $10.00 per volume.

WASHINGTON (George). The Writings of George Washington. Including his Diaries and Correspondence. Edited by WORTHINGTON C. FORD. The edition will be completed in fourteen royal octavo volumes, handsomely printed from type, uniform with Bigelow's edition of Franklin's Works and Lodge's edition of Hamilton's Works. But 750 sets will be printed, the larger portion of which are already subscribed for. In course of publication. Vols. I, II, III, IV, V, VI, VII now ready. Price per volume $5 00

"This sumptuous subscription edition of a work which must eventually become of the highest value to all collectors of books grows in popular favor with the appearance of each volume. Comparison with previous compilations exhibits the great superiority of Mr. Ford's work over all others."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"Mr. Ford has now sufficiently advanced his task of editing the writings of Washington to show that he must be accepted as the authoritative editor of the national work. . . . Makes the assurance doubly sure that under Mr. Ford's able editorship we are at last to have an edition of the writings of Washington worthy of the man, his cause, and his country."—Phila. Times.

"To the patriotic American every page of the history will be found profoundly interesting and instructive."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"A sumptuous volume."

WEBB (William S., M.D.). California and Alaska and over the Canadian Pacific Railway. Limited letter-press edition, with 88 full-page illustrations in photogravure, and four full-page etchings. (See separate prospectus.)

Dr. Webb's volume is elegantly printed in quarto, size 8 x 11 inches. It contains about two hundred pages of text, printed upon the finest vellum paper, is bound in full morocco extra, gilt top.

The illustrations consist of four original etchings, proofs on India paper, made specially for this work, and eighty-eight photogravures of views and scenes from photographs. But five hundred copies are printed. Price per copy, $25.00.

The journey described in the above volume was taken in the winter of 1888-9, by the author, accompanied by his family and a few friends. It comprised a trip across the continent by the most picturesque route, and along the Pacific Coast to Lower California, and the travellers were in all nearly three months en route.

The author possessed, among other qualifications for a successful traveller, an enthusiastic interest in his undertaking, and in the very complete organization of his travelling arrangements he also possessed exceptional facilities for seeing all that there was to be seen in the country gone over—a country which, in the rapid progress of settlement, is changing so extensively from year to year, that descriptions given five years back would to-day hardly be recognizable.

The author says in his Preface:

"The more I thought of this proposed journey, the more interesting and important it seemed to me in the prospective. For, to me at least, it was something more than a trip of pleasure, as, indeed, it could not but be to any business man. The journey would cover the most interesting portion of our country—a stretch of territory that is not only the pride of every native of the United States, but the subject of never-ceasing wonder on the part of the countless number of educated foreigners who come to our shores with the special purpose of journeying over the same ground. Following up this line of thought, I determined that an expedition of such interest, in which I should enjoy the society not only of my own family but of some of my most valued friends, was worthy of special and unusual preparation. Then it was that I conceived the idea of organizing a private train for the party, to include a baggage-car, a dining-car, and two private cars. This train was to run what railroad men call "special" from start to finish—i. e., it was to be entirely independent of time-tables, starting when we wished and running at any rate of speed we might select. Of course, under such a scheme the party would be relieved of any anxiety they might otherwise have had in regard to making connections."

Extract from Nineteenth Century:—"One needs a good excuse for asking people in such pages as these to read yet one more volume on a subject on which we are generally told that every thing has already been said over and over again, whether on one side or the other. The excuse is that Mr. Pellew's book has a special and peculiar quality of its own, which distinguishes it from most of what has appeared on Ireland since the publication of Mr. Senior's Journals a good many years ago. . . . One merit, if no other, the book has: it treats the question in the concrete, and not as a field for bandying abstract and general language about unity, empire, and so forth. We see in it the nature of the malady which it is our business to cure, even though the author does not commit himself fully to either of the two remedies proposed."—The Right Hon. JOHN MORLEY.

Heroes of the Nations.

A series of biographical studies of the lives and work of certain representative historical characters, about whom have gathered the great traditions of the Nations to which they belonged, and who have been accepted, in many instances, as types of the several National ideals. With the life of each typical character will be presented a picture of the National conditions surrounding him during his career.

THE HEROES OF THE NATIONS will form a companion Series to that issued under the title of "The Story of the Nations."

ANNUAL AND SEASONAL CLIMATIC MAPS OF THE UNITED STATES

Graphically Illustrating the whole Climate, from Records of the Signal Service Bureau. By CHARLES DENISON, A.M., M.D.

The ANNUAL MAP graphically illustrates Cloudiness in shades of color, giving percentages; has Isothermal liner for every change of five degrees Fahr., and Precipitation lines for each change of five inches of rainfall. This Map has special arrows for the prevailing, rain-bearing and pleasant weather winds for each section of the country, and tables, across the base of the map, giving the comparative windiness, and fourteen other climatic facts or data, for each of the 136 Signal Stations.

The FOUR SEASONAL CHARTS in one map, graphically illustrate the combined humidity statistics for the seasons, i. e.: relative and absolute humidity and cloudiness; the moist part of the country is shown in four shades of blue, and the dry part in four shades of red, the line between the red and blue being the average of the climate of the United States for the year.

There are also the seasonal Temperature lines, the above kinds of Weather Winds, all the Mineral Springs and Health Stations in the United States, and, in the tables, all the important seasonal averages of statistics.

There are about five million separate Signal Service observations condensed on either the Annual or Seasonal map; nevertheless, separate data can be readily investigated, and the whole easily understood.

RAND, McNALLY & CO.'S SHIPPERS' MAPS

MOUNTED ON TARBOARD.

Each map is accompanied by a general index to towns, counties, etc., which shows, in alphabetical order, every town, railroad station, and post office in the State, with its population, its county, its location on the map, the branch or division of the railroad on which it is situated, whether a county seat, an express office, a money-order post office, or telegraph station, and the nearest mailing point.

☞ To enable us to furnish the most recent maps, we prepare them only when ordered. About two days' time is required.

AN ENTIRELY NEW MAP JUST FROM THE ENGRAVER.

NEW

General Map of the United States

WITH PORTIONS OF CANADA AND MEXICO.

Size (One Sheet), 66 x 46 Inches.

SCALE, 45 MILES TO ONE INCH.

Specially prepared to fill the pressing demand for a map of the United States larger than our Commercial Map (which is 58 x 41 inches), but of smaller size than the large railroad and county map (which is 100 x 56 inches).

This map has been compiled and drawn from the latest records of the United States Land Office and from the records of the Surveyors General for the different States and Territories.

It shows all State and County boundary lines, Indian reservations, mountain ranges, peaks, lakes, and rivers; all lines of railroad are carefully located, and the cities and towns thereon shown in large, plain type.

The engraving has been done by our modern relief line process, executed by the most skillful workmen, bringing out every detail in the plainest possible manner.

The States are colored separately by our patent process, which has met with such universal approval, and the boundary lines of separate Counties are easily distinguished.

A great many railroads have been recently completed, new counties have been erected, and such a multitude of new towns have sprung into existence, that quite a section of this map presents a complete contrast to all older maps.

The change is most marked on that portion of the map which covers the States and Territories of the West, Northwest, Southwest, and South. During 1888, over 7,000 miles of track were laid in the United States, and of this grand total 529 miles are accredited to Kansas, 519 to California, and 446 miles to Georgia, these States having been selected to show how numerous the changes were during last year. There is also shown on this map the completed mileage of 1889 up to about May 1st.

The four new States, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, and Washington, also the present boundaries of the Oklahoma country in Indian Territory, are clearly outlined.

Portions of Canada and Mexico, which appear upon the margin of the map, show railroad stations and prominent features, such as lakes, mountains, rivers, etc., and cover the country so far as to include Lake Winnipeg on the north and about half of Mexico on the south.

This new map will prove a most valuable addition to our list of United States maps.

Columbia Series of School Maps.

An entirely new set of Maps, printed from newly engraved plates, prepared from the latest official and private data. The large scale of these Maps permits the introduction, without crowding, of many important details not usually shown on School Maps, while the clearness and size of type, etc., permits of their use in the largest school-rooms. The coloring, by our well-known patented process, beautifully contrasts political divisions, without obscuring details, while our unequaled facilities enable us to supply the Maps at prices far below those asked for any map approaching them in completeness or quality. The Series comprises seven Maps, as follows:

Globe Series of Educational Maps

ESPECIALLY DESIGNED AND ENGRAVED FOR USE IN SCHOOLS.

Most Complete, Handsome and Substantial School Maps ever Published

These Maps are distinguished by several new and useful features, being beautifully bold in outline, free from unimportant names, and so distinct that no difficulty is experienced in reading any name. They show the latest geographical discoveries and political changes in every part of the world. They are handsomely and artistically colored, so that the political boundaries can be readily distinguished at a distance. The names of towns are engraved in clear, bold type, and are also indicated by large black dots, so that the series can, if preferred, be used for "outline" maps. The lengths of the principal rivers and the altitudes of the highest mountains are engraved on the maps.

The Map of Canada, United States and Mexico shows the new boundary line between Manitoba and Ontario, and gives to Canada and the great Northwest more accurate prominence than has ever been attempted by any other publishers. The regions traversed by the Greeley Expedition, together with the geographical features of the adjacent parts, are exhibited by the map of North America. The one of South America presents the colonial possessions of European countries and the boundaries recently established. The contested territory in Afghanistan, the Congo Free State, with its Lakes, Rivers and Missions, and all the late changes made by settlement and colonization in South Africa are shown on their respective maps. The paths of oceanic currents and the locations of the submarine cables are special features on the maps of the hemispheres. Various colored diagrams showing the area and population of the several great States of the World, their comparative production of cereals, the tonnage of their merchant marines, etc., accompany the maps, making them complete in every respect.

The maps are mounted on heavy cloth, with rollers, and varnished.

They are designed to be used in connection with any text-book on geography. No "key" is required. Any map sold separately. Any Map can be sent by mail, postage prepaid.

Size, 58 x 41 Inches.

In the preparation of this map we have endeavored to meet all the requirements that our experience teaches us to be desirable in such a publication. It embodies many valuable and convenient features. The coloring distinguishes political divisions,—a distinction which is extended to coaling stations, ports, and islands belonging to the various great States —and is at once clear and delicate, so as not to obscure the other features of the map. The water, instead of being indicated by a confused mass of lines, as commonly practiced, is of a uniform blue tint, and the coast lines, even to the smallest islands, are so shaded in the engraving as to make the land stand out boldly, as if raised above the level surface. All important places are shown, and as much detail has been introduced as is consistent with clearness, so that the map, without being in the least crowded, contains more geographical information than most charts of the kind. Another feature that will be appreciated is the position of North America and the United States, which are placed near the centre of the map, thus bringing Australia, a large part of China and of the Russian Empire upon the left side of the map. This is an improvement that will be valued by those that have been confused by the English maps, in which those countries are placed on the Eastern side of the chart. In the Arctic Ocean all the discoveries of recent explorers are accurately located; the various ocean currents are shown in detail; and in every respect the map is trustworthy and superior.

In addition to the general chart, the sheet contains small inset maps of the British Isles, Germany, and Sweden and Norway; and colored diagrams showing the comparative heights of the principal mountains and the comparative lengths of the principal rivers of the world.

It is large enough to accommodate four maps, including the large Map of the World and any State Map, and any desired selection can be made to fill it.

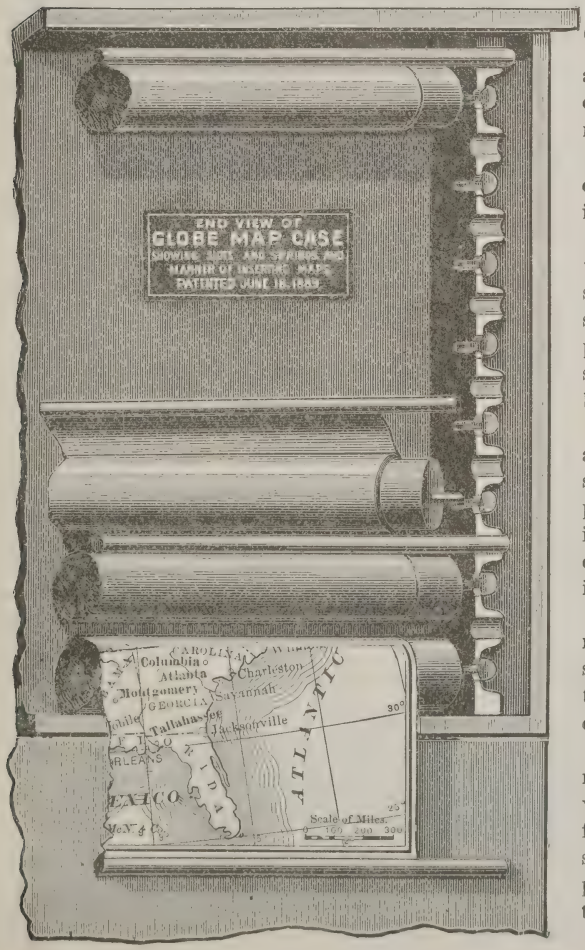
The New "GLOBE" Map Case.



THIS Case has been designed to remedy certain defects which appeared in all the forms of map cases, with which experience has made us acquainted.

The advantages secured in this new case are, simplicity, economy, durability, and ease of working.

The "Globe" Case is made of hard wood, handsomely finished. The spindles of the maps rest in metal sockets at one end of the case, and the pinions of the spring end slide into slots where they are secured in place by means of perforated springs.

The casting containing the sockets at one end, and that containing the slots and springs at the other, are also provided with corresponding grooves, in which the round sticks at the lower edge of the maps rest, when the map is rolled up on the spring roller.

In this case it is impossible for the maps to get out of place, while the square slot can not wear so as to allow the map to turn, as often happens with cases made entirely of wood.

To remove the map the spring is merely pressed back with the thumb, when the pinion can be withdrawn from the slot. To replace it, the spindle is placed in the socket, and the pinion pressed back into the slot until the spring strikes it.

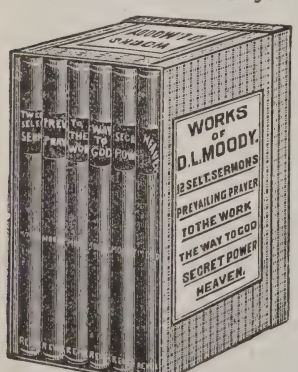
Works of D. L. Moody.—A new edition in new bindings of these popular works (see cut.) Put up in neat box. Per set of 7 vols., including BIBLE CHARACTERS, $4.20. Sold separately, each 60c., paper, 30c. As below:



"By the strenuous cultivation of his gift Mr. Moody has attained to a clear and incisive style which preachers ought to study; and he has the merit which many more cultivated men lack, of saying nothing that does not tend to the enforcement of the particular truth he is enunciating. He knows how to disencumber his text of all extraneous matter, and exhibits his wisdom as a preacher hardly less by what he leaves out than by what he includes. Apart from its primary purpose each of these books has a distinct value as a lesson on homiletics to ministers and students."—The Christian Leader.

This series is uniform in style and price with the popular Missionary Biography series. Mr. Page has narrated Mr. Bright's life with admirable simplicity. Each volume is finely illustrated with numerous engravings, maps, etc., and their popular character may be judged by the fact that repeated editions have been called for, Stanley alone having reached 20,000.

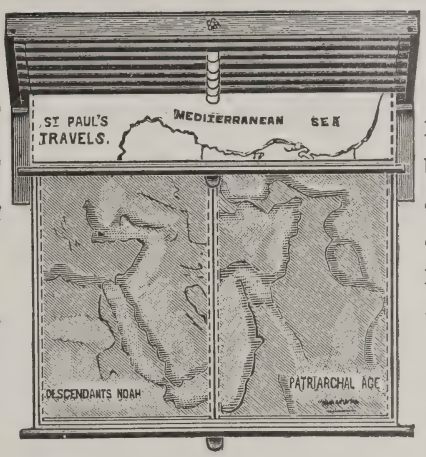
Revell's Biblical Wall Atlas

By T. RUDDIMAN JOHNSON, F. R. G. S.

NO LABOR OR EXPENSE HAS BEEN SPARED TO MAKE THIS

The most complete, the most accurate, the most perfect Series of Biblical Maps ever produced, and at a moderate price.



Everything that could be desired by the most critical Biblical scholar, for Sunday School, Bible Class, Seminary, College or the Study.

The Series Contain Thirty Maps and Plans, Mounted on Eight Hartshorn Self-Acting Spring Rollers, 54x46, and Set in Handsome Cherry or Oak Lock-Map Case.

In offering this new and elegant series of Maps to that large and steadily increasing body of Biblical Scholars, (including Theological Professors and Students, Clergymen, Sunday School Superintendents and Teachers and Private Biblical Students), we do so with the greatest confidence that the very large investment necessary to the production of so incomparable a work will meet with such an appreciation, as we are assured it deserves.

We Call Special Attention to the Following Features:

THEIR ACCURACY. The name of Mr. T. Ruddiman Johnson, F. R. G. S., is sufficient guarantee that the maps contain the results of the latest geographical research, including the recent surveys of "Palestine Exploration Fund," together with every benefit of the most accurate modern scholarship.

THEIR COMPLETENESS. A glance at the list of maps will show how completely the entire world, as known in Scripture, is represented. In this respect nothing so complete, has ever before been even attempted.

THEIR PERFECT EXECUTION. The Lithograph work on these maps is done by the first artists and are pronounced the best map work without any exception ever produced. In outline, in coloring and in finish they are perfect.

THEIR LEGIBILITY. The old idea of shading coast lines, so awkwardly confusing, has been dispensed with. Every line is clear and distinct. There is no chance for confusion, while important localities are reproduced on larger scales in separate diagrams.

THEIR CONVENIENT SIZE. After long study and enquiry, we are convinced the size adopted will be found most convenient for all general purposes.

THEIR COMPACT FORM. As put up in our patent "lock map case" each map on a self-acting Hartshorn roller, the entire series is contained in the one case occupying small space.

THEIR MODERATE PRICE. The low price at which this invaluable set is offered, is based upon the expectation that it will meet with a very wide spread appreciation. Only a most extensive sale can re-imburse us for our large outlay in producing this series of maps. This appreciation we confidently expect.

Price Complete in Case, $40.00.

MESSRS. ROBERTS BROTHERS'

NEW BOOKS FOR THE SEASON 1890-91.

OUR NEW ENGLAND.

Her Nature described by Hamilton Wright Mabie and some of Her Familiar Scenes Illustrated. The illustrations are photogravures (Gravure-Gibbo) from nature, by A. W. Elson & Co., with Remarks drawn by Frank T. Merrill, oblong quarto, limp cover, with photogravure design on Japanese paper, gilt edges. Price, $4.00; cloth, illuminated design, price, $5.00.

Picture Subjects.

A NEW ENGLAND HOME.
HOME OF THE PURITAN.
A FAMILY OF ROCKS.
HAPPY HOLLOW.
COUNTRY ROAD IN WINTER.
ON THE EXETER RIVER.
PAST MILKING TIME. "Why don't you come and get us?"
COUNTRY ROAD IN SUMMER.
MILKING TIME.
EASTERN POINT BEACH, GLOUCESTER HARBOR.
A WARM CORNER.
THROUGH THE PINES.

The picture subjects are charming bits of Nature, characteristic of New England, chosen from various localities by an expert photographer, and reproduced with special attention to details, by the photogravure process.

Mr. Mabie's summary of the picturesqueness and grandeur of New England scenery is a clever bit of essay writing. His description of the climatic changes, of boy life in the old homestead and on the farm, the varied aspects of Nature during the four seasons, its beauties so favorably compared with other countries, is unfolded with panoramic clearness, and is extremely fascinating.

To the New-Englander afar, the book will be a happy reminder of his early home life, while to the resident, it will be a source of pleasure and pride.

ILLUSTRATED EDITION OF THE LIGHT OF ASIA;

Or, The Great Renunciation. Being the Life and Teaching of Gautama, Prince of India and Founder of Buddhism. By Sir EDWIN ARNOLD, M. A., K. C. L. E., C. S. I. Holiday edition. Square 12mo. Bound in Oriental colors. With a new portrait of the author by Damman, and illustrative cover design. Gilt top, price $1.50; full gilt, gilt edges, price $2.00.

"THIS IS THE NIGHT THE AGES WAITED FOR."

The illustrations are taken, for the most part, from photographs of Buddhist sculptures and frescoes found in ancient ruins of India, averaging 2000 years old, many of them being identified by eminent archæological authorities, both in India and at home, as actually illustrating scenes in the Life of Gautama Buddha, the founder of Buddhism, and the hero of Mr. Arnold's poem.

The design on the cover illustrates the four principal events in the life of Buddha, the Birth, the Meditation, the Preaching, and the Nirvana. It is taken from a bas-relief found at Sārnāth, near Benares, and now in the museum at Calcutta.

IDYLLS OF THE FIELD.

By F. A. KNIGHT, author of "By Leafy Ways." With illustrations by E. T. Compton. 12mo. Cloth. Price, $1.50.

The success which has attended the publication of Mr. Knight's recent volume, "By Leafy Ways," has induced him to issue another series of chapters in a uniform volume. These are now just published under the title of "Idylls of the Field," and are tastefully illustrated by Mr. E. T. Compton, whose drawings for the former volume added so much to its charm. The volume consists of a series of Sketches, containing exquisite pictures of country life and scenes, characterised by that charm of style which has rendered Mr. Knight's writing so popular.

SABRINA FAIR.

BY LEAFY WAYS.

Brief Studies from the Book of Nature. By F. A. KNIGHT. With numerous beautiful illustrations and full-page plates, by E. T. Compton. 12mo. Cloth. Price, $1.50. (In Press.)

A book of delightful reading about out-of-door life. Dealing chiefly with bird life, the work also contains much information about the denizens of English lanes, woods, and meadows, written in a very pleasing and agreeable style. Mr. Knight has a happy touch in describing the ways of birds and the aspects of the fields, and a keenness of observation akin to the faculty that was so remarkably developed by Richard Jefferies in "The Gamekeeper at Home," and other books. Not the least important feature of these studies is to create a love for all the lower forms of life by showing their usefulness in one particular or another.

THE FUTURE OF SCIENCE.

By ERNEST RENAN, author of "History of the People of Israel." One volume. 8vo. Cloth.

MISS BROOKS.

A Boston Novel. By ELIZA O. WHITE, author of "A Browning Courtship." 16mo. Cloth. Price, $1.00.

THE HOUSE OF THE WOLFINGS.

A Tale of the House of the Wolfings and all the Kindreds of the Mark, written in Prose and in Verse, by WILLIAM MORRIS, author of "The Earthly Paradise." 12mo. Oxford style. Price, $2.00.

This is one of those rare creations of genius which reproduce the life and manners of a remote past and of peoples of a grand kind that civilization cannot assimilate.

The story of the Wolfings, a branch of the Gothic people, in their picturesque life in the woods and their struggle with the Romans, has an epic force and significance; and the way in which Thiodolf, their leader and that of their brother Mark-men, was led to sacrifice his own life in order to insure the success of his people, has a noble pathos. He had been induced by the Wood-Sun, a daughter of the god, who was smitten with love for him, to wear a magic hauberk, or coat of mail, which he threw off on discovering that, while it was a sure protection for him, it would bring ruin on his folk. This was being proved by the success of the Romans, who had captured the sacred Wolfing Roof, when the Hall-Sun, the child of the two lovers, resolving to sacrifice her beloved father for his country, led him to her mother, whom she made confess the deception which she had practised to save Thiodolf's life. That warrior, roused by the emergency, marched with his hosts to the Wolfing Roof, which he recaptured from the Romans, and died from his wounds in the great hall. His death saved his people.

THE DAY'S MESSAGE.

A Brief Selection of Prose and Verse for each day in the year. Chosen by Susan Coolidge (Sarah C. Woolsey). Cover design by Mrs. Whitman. 16mo. White and green cloth. Plain edition, price $1.00; full gilt and gilt edges, price $1.25.

The daily reading of this little volume of selections will be a constant reminder that the "cheerful and helpful doing of what the hand finds to do" is a "surety that at evening-time whatsoever is right the Master will give."

LONDON OF TO-DAY.

An Illustrated Handbook of the Season, 1890. By CHARLES EYRE PASCOE. The sixth annual edition, revised and in part rewritten, and comprising numerous additional illustrations. 12mo. Cloth. Price, $1.50.

A book of valuable information concerning Hotels, Restaurants, Places, Persons, and Firms, stated with fairness and discrimination. It will be of vast service to strangers in a great city like London, being based as a rule on actual personal knowledge and experience.

ONE SUMMER'S LESSONS IN PRACTICAL PERSPECTIVE.

Told in the Form of a Story for Young People. By CHRISTINE CHAPLIN BRUSH, author of "The Colonel's Opera Cloak," and "Inside Our Gate." With many illustrations. One volume. 16mo. Cloth. Price, 75 cents.

DAYS AND HOURS IN A GARDEN.

By E. V. B. A new edition, printed on antique paper, and adorned with pictorial head and tail pieces, composed of sketches taken from the nooks and corners in the garden described by the author. 12mo. White cloth, gilt top. Price, $2.00.

Days and Hours in a Garden illustrates, in a very happy manner, the many charms which surround the daily tending of a country garden. It is founded on the author's experience in the care of a garden of almost historic interest in the county of Buckingham, England. A new preface has been added, and several new illustrations from the pencil of E. V. B. will be found interspersed in its pages.

The book is full of suggestive thoughts on the works of Nature, and displays a deep sympathy with her teachings.

THE WINDS, THE WOODS, AND THE WANDERER.

A Fable for Children. By LILY F. WESSELHOEFT, author of "Sparrow, the Tramp," and "Flipwing the Spy." With Illustrations. 16mo. Cloth. Price, $1.25.

SPECIMEN CUT.

In the story of "The Winds, the Woods, and the Wanderer," the author has endeavored to depict an artistic temperament that is misunderstood by the practical natures by which it is surrounded, — one that hears the voice of the "dear Lord God," as the Germans have it, speaking through the rustling of the forest-trees. This same artistic temperament the untutored Indian youth possessed; and the two natures were drawn together by the love of the beautiful that was implanted in the soul of each, and that interpreted to them the voices of Nature which to others are as a sealed book.

DEAR DAUGHTER DOROTHY.

By Miss A. G. PLYMPTON. With seven illustrations by the author. Small 4to. Cloth. Price, $1.00.

DEAR DAUGHTER DOROTHY.

IN MY NURSERY.

Rhymes, Chimes, and Jingles for Children. By LAURA E. RICHARDS, author of "The Joyous Story of Toto," and "Toto's Merry Winter." Profusely illustrated. One volume. Small 4to. Cloth. Price, $1.25.

A PARTY. — SPECIMEN PICTURE FROM "IN MY NURSERY."

STORIES TOLD AT TWILIGHT.

By LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, author of "Bed-Time Stories," "Firelight Stories," etc. With illustrations by H. Winthrop Peirce. 16mo. Cloth. Price, $1.25.

SPECIMEN OF ILLUSTRATION FROM "STORIES TOLD AT TWILIGHT."

ZOE.

A Story. By the author of "Miss Toosey's Mission," and "Laddie," "Pen," "Our Little Ann," "Lil," and "Tip Cat." 16mo. Cloth. Price, 50 cents.

"What satisfaction there must be in the habit of reading! The power to give one's self up graciously to a book is the wealthiest habit, I imagine, that one can acquire. It is fulness itself, or an endless and ever ready resource."— Chauncey Wright.

We invite educators particularly to examine this system of teaching languages. It is one of the few methods (probably the only one) that has accomplished the difficult task of uniting the practical study of language with thoroughness and correctness. By it the students are continually drilled in speaking and hearing the foreign idiom, without neglecting reading and writing it. The subject is presented to the students in such a manner that he is forced to realize the exact meaning of words and their modifications, and to build up understandingly the various forms of clauses and sentences. The lasting success the Berlitz Method has obtained everywhere is a certain proof of its value and efficiency, and makes it the duty of all teachers of languages to examine or test this system.

Being acquainted with the excellences of the higher "Schulgrammatik" of the same author, I was predisposed to look favorably on this more elementary work. A careful examination in no way diminishes that good will. I know of no work that lends more dignity to the usual drudgework of acquiring the forms — that basis of wider acquisition for all who must learn a language by study, and I shall take pleasure in introducing it into my classes of beginners. You have done a real favor in putting this book within the reach of American pupils." — Charles E. Fay, Prof. of Modern Languages at Tufts College.

"The Book of the Epoch. A Wonderfully Fascinating Work."

CÆSAR'S COLUMN

A STORY OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY.

BY EDMUND BOISGILBERT, M. D.

ONE of the most remarkable books ever written. The author, a man of wealth and high social position, and who writes under a nom de plume, presents, in a wonderfully fascinating and startlingly original work of fiction, a profound study of present sociological conditions, and follows these conditions out to what he believes will be their enevitable result. The events described in the story take place in the year 1988, and the scene is laid in New York City, containing at that time ten million inhabitants.

SOME WEIGHTY OPINIONS.

"That our people in this country need arousing is unquestionably true, and you have brought forward a Gabriel's trump of a very different sort from the one concerning which I have been wont to think."—FRANCES E. WILLARD.

"I find in it evidence of great literary ability, abounding, as it does, in great wealth of imagery and vividness of detail. * * * As an example of high literary form, the book deserves unstinted praise."—CARDINAL GIBBONS.

"'Cæsar's Column,' in its vivid portrayal, will lead many to realize better the many dangers to which our country is liable."—HON. WM. LARRABEE.

"Certainly a very extraordinary production."—REV. BISHOP H. C. POTTER.

"I was unable to lay it down until I had finished reading it. It should be read by every farmer in the land."— H. L. LOUCKS, President National Farmers' Alliance.

"Bellamy looks backward upon what is impossible as well as improbable. 'Cæsar's Column' looks forward to what is not only possible, but probable."—MILTON GEORGE, Founder of the Farmers' Alliance.

"I have read 'Cæsar's Column' twice and am convinced that it has been written in the nick of time. * * * I predict for the book an immense sale and a world-wide discussion."—CORINNE S. BROWN, Secretary Nationalist Club, Chicago.

"Peculiarly timely at the present time, and should have a wide reading among thinking people."—B. O. FLOWER.

"From the time that I received a copy of 'Cæsar's Column' until after two o'c ock the next morning I read with the most intense interest to the end. Only once before in my life has a book in any degree affected me like this one. That was Charles Reade's 'Put Yourself in His Place.' 'Progress and Poverty,' Bebel's 'Woman,' Gronlund's 'Commonwealth,' and even 'Looking Backward'—all have failed to arouse in me sufficient interest to receive a complete perusal, But 'Cæsar's Column' will receive no such indifferent attention. To commence it is to finish it, and to finish it is in my case the creation of an impatient desire to read it again."—T. J. MORGAN.

"The book points out tendencies which actually exist and are in need of cure. It warns us with vehemence and force of the necessity of guarding our liberties against the encroachments of monopoly and plutocracy, and of disarming corruption in government by every device that a vigilant ingenuity can supply."—GEORGE CARY EGGLESTON in New York World.

"I began the book in the morning, and read it carefully to the end the same day. It is exceedingly interesting as a narrative and is written by a man of thought, learning and imagination. I consider 'Cæsar's Column' the best work of its class—prophetic forecasts of the future of civilized society—that has appeared since Bulwer's 'Coming Race.' The difficulty of conveying without heaviness the author's views as to the elements and organization of a true society has been met with rare ability. The views themselves, in their general scope, are sound and wise, and such as those who have the welfare of humanity at heart would rejoice to see realized. There are, of course, almost as many plans of reform as there are reformers, but the present author's scheme is open to as few objections as any that I have seen advanced.

"I was impressed with the power of the book—the vividness and strength with which the tragic incidents of the tale are described and developed. The plot is absorbing, and yet nothing in it seems forced; and the conception of the column is as original as its treatment is vigorous. There is no padding in the book: the events are portrayed tersely and clearly. The analysis of the steps which lead society from the point at which it stands to-day, to that which it occupies a century hence, is reasonable and sagacious; and the breadth of the author's mind, as well as his careful study of social conditions, is made evident by his treatment of the discussions put in the mouths of his characters. Justice is done to each side. * * * As must always be the case in stories of this type, the characters are the least valuable feature of it—though Estalla, in at least one scene, rises to a high dramatic level. But the magnitude and novelty of the incidents overpower the persons. * * * I should not be surprised to see 'Cæsar's Column' attain an immense vogue. It has many of the elements of popular success, and is, besides, an earnest and instructive piece of work."—JULIAN HAWTHORNE.

"CÆSAR'S COLUMN"—WHAT CRITICS SAY.

"In my opinion it is the most wonderful book of the age. The writer plainly foresees the result of our present social system It is a book of warning and should be read by every thinking man and woman in the civilized world."—Z. D. SCOTT. Treasurer Dakota Farmers' Alliance.

"A wonderfully fascinating book. Will hold the attention of the world as no other book has held it for years."—Chicago Saturday Blade.

"The author writes with tremendous feeling and has great imaginative power. * * * The picture gives in startling colors what would be the case if many of our business methods or social tendencies were to move on unimpeded to their legitimate results. The book is a plea, and a striking one. Its plot is bold, its language is forceful, and the great uprising is given with terrible vividness."—Public Opinion.

"The most remarkable and thought-provoking novel that the disturbed industrial and social conditions of the present have produced. As a novel it is incomparably stronger than Mr. Bellamy's 'Looking Backward.' * * * The purpose of this book is to arrest attention --to make men think wisely and act justly, and with despatch. The writer holds it as a signal of danger before the oncoming train. Will the warning be heeded?"—Arena.

"Whoever has read the gospel of nationalism and feels inclined thereby to rest on his oars and await the growth of peace and equality under what its enemies call the militancy of the future would do well to look also on this view, as worked out in vivid detail in 'Cæsar's Column.' Perchance it may alarm them somewhat, and remind them that, after all, 'the kingdom of heaven comes not without observation.' The pessimistic future is as possible as the optimistic, and growth in either direction is not promoted by passively doing nothing."—St. Louis Republic.

"The author of 'Cæsar's Column' possesses a keen and caustic pen. * * * Scattered through the pages are unexpected epigrams keen as any ever penned."—National Glass Budget.

"A book written for a purpose. * * * A very fascinating picture. There is great ingenuity in the details of the plot, and some strong writing in the development. The author of 'Cæsar's Column,' whoever he may be, is a writer of force and ability."—Toledo Blade.

"Intense, stirring and eloquent. No such book has ever before appeared in the annals of literature. Its story is here and there brightened by the sweetness of a pure love, but the general tone is one which should make every honest heart shiver for the future. The truth peers from every page. No man will read this book without a new sense of duty and responsibility to his country."—The Great West, St. Paul.

"A much more powerful book than Mr. Bellamy has produced.—Kansas City Times.

"To say the least of it, has the merit of startling originality."—Louisville Times.

"Ingeniously conceived, and has an apparently solid scientific foundation."—Cleveland Leader.

"There is no lack of action or incident."—Chicago Tribune.

"A work of startling interest and originality."—The Craftsman.

"'Looking Backward' pictures what ought to be; 'Cæsar's Column' describes what may be. They use different means, but aim at the same end."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"There is ample food for reflection in the book. * * * It is the work of an earnest and thoughtful writer, and one possessed of no small amount of literary skill. The book is consistent, and is really an addition to the literature of political economy rather than to that of fiction."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"The descriptions are vivid and at times lurid. The twentieth century sermon, with its cold logic unwarmed by its fiery rhetoric, while at first thought a detail, is strong in that it describes the paralysis of a present nerve center of goodness. The description of the battle between labor and wealth, armed with destructive powers of a century hence, is powerful in the extreme, as well as is the horrible anarchy which follows the triumph of the downtrodden. The book is strong in that it portrays the tendencies of many modern vices, and will do a good work if it causes their uprooting at an early stage. * * * It is unique in its character, and the effect of an honest purpose is felt in every line."—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

"Another knight has come into the list to shiver a lance against the social, economic and political abuses which endanger the civilization of the world. It must be said in his favor that he does not carry a lady's scarf upon his helmet, but seems to fight as in a holy war, with a thorough appreciation of the seriousness of the conflict and a devoted determination to win in the cause of right if it be permitted him so to do. * * * The story is interestingly devised and strongly told. It is not the work of a pessimist or an anarchist, but rather of a preacher who sees the dangers that all thoughtful men see in our time, and, appreciating the importance to humanity of maintaining what is good in existing systems, utters his warning as a sacred duty."—Detroit Free Press.

"The ablest and most entertaining among recent works designed to inculcate economic science through the vehicle of romance. The book is more than eloquent: it is startling and fascinating. The writer puts facts in so direct and convincing a form that the reader knows on the moment that he is following the thoughts of a man familiar with to-day and its immediate wants instead of the vague speculations of an idle theorist. * * * What 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' did toward the downfall of slavery 'Cæsar's Column' will do toward the downfall of a pampered plutocracy."—Chicago Express.

THE THIRD AND FINAL VOLUME OF

CYCLOPEDIA OF MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

EDITED BY JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN, JR. CRITICAL EDITOR, WILLIAM F. APTHORP.

This volume completes an important work which takes its place as an acknowledged authority in its special field, and ranks with its predecessor, the "Cyclopedia of Painters and Paintings," as an invaluable work of reference, while it resembles the latter still further in the skill and conscientious care with which it has been prepared, and the sumptuously handsome form in which it is issued.

The limited edition consists of 500 sets for this country and 50 for Europe, and is published in three quarto volumes, with decorated parchment binding, the price per volume being $25.00 net. The work contains over one thousand illustrations, including thirty-six full-page portraits, etched especially for this edition.

The work founds its claim to a high place in the literature of its art upon the character and comprehensiveness of the information which, through its text and illustrations, it for the first time makes accessible; the new simplicity of its arrangement; and the bibliography, of a kind hitherto unattempted, through which it furnishes a key and guide to the whole literature of music. In brief, it is—

THE SET, 6 VOLS., IN A BOX, $7.50; SINGLE VOLUMES, $1.25 EACH.

A little more than three years ago (January, 1887) the first number of Scribner's Magazine was issued, and since that time it has steadily advanced in popularity and in influence. It may not be out of place to look back and see what notable features have been published. Among the earliest to appear were the "Unpublished Letters of Thackeray," edited by Mrs. J. O. Brookfield, and arranged by James Russell Lowell; the first chapters of the reminiscences of Minister Washburne, recording his extraordinary experiences during the siege and Commune of Paris, were published early in 1887. In the following year, Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson contributed twelve monthly papers which will long be remembered. His powerful novel, "The Master of Ballantrae," appeared in the year following. The "Railway Series" of articles were a most pronounced success; the reminiscences of Lester Wallack; the first of General P. H. Sheridan's memoirs was printed in Scribner's Magazine for November, 1888, and Mr. H. M. Stanley's article in the June (1890) number attracted renewed attention to the periodical. Many other interesting groups of papers, the special holiday issues and the midsummer fiction number might be described but for lack of space.

A list of the artists who have contributed to Scribner's Magazine would include almost all the modern illustrators, beside painters whose work does not often appear in black and white, and not a few of the younger men.

The subscription price is $3.00 a year.

The Historical Publications of Mr. Townsend Mac Coun, were added to our list January 1, 1890; and the entire list of School, College and Miscellaneous books of Messrs. John C. Buckbee & Co., July 1, 1890.

TO OUR PATRONS.

Careful attention to the following will avoid mistakes and save needless correspondence:

Explanations: —

1. The nominal "Introductory" prices given in our Catalogue, Introductory Price-List, and Circulars, are the same as our Wholesale list prices here given.

2. The "Exchange price" of any School or College Text-Book on our list, (the price at which a book so listed will be furnished for first introduction in addition to the corresponding old book in use) is usually two-thirds (⅔) of the Wholesale ("Introductory") list price.

3. Books sent for introductory supply will be billed at wholesale ("Introductory") list prices, and the proper allowance for old books received in exchange will be made at settlement.

Suggestions. — In ordering, parties will confer a favor upon us by complying with the following suggestions: —

1. Always be careful in ordering to give full and exact titles.

2. State whether books ordered are for Introduction or for Regular Trade.

3. If for Introduction, make a careful estimate of the number of books required, and be careful not to send an excessive order; a second order is always more satisfactory to all concerned than a return of books resulting from an excessive order.

4. In ordering for Introduction, be particular to state the school or schools in which the books are to be introduced, what book, if any, is to be displaced, whether it is expected that exchanges will be made, and the probable number of such exchanges.

5. If you are not personally known to us, and wish us to open an account with you, always mention the name of some reliable party to whom we may refer, if we desire information respecting your responsibility and standing.

Terms. — Our Patrons are requested to observe carefully the following rules:

1. Orders for single copies of any book should always be accompanied by cash; do not ask us to open an account for the price of a single book.

2. All accounts for merchandise ordered for Regular Trade should be paid on or before the 15th of the month following the one in which they were contracted. Accounts not so paid are subject to sight draft, without special notice, on the 15th of the month.

3. All Introductory Accounts must be settled monthly. If the time allowed for introduction has not expired, parties with whom we have open accounts for Introductory Supplies should send us on the first of the month a statement of the books on hand unsold, with remittance to cover all books sold.

4. Single copies of any of our publications will be sent by us to any address, postage or expressage prepaid, on receipt of "Retail price," when listed at "Retail price"; those listed at Wholesale ("Introductory") price will be sent to any address on receipt of the amount of such Wholesale price, with 10 per cent. added to cover cost of postage. This applies to all our publications which are mailable. Such of our charts, maps, etc., as cannot be sent by mail will be forwarded to any address on receipt of Catalogue prices — expressage to be at the expense of the purchaser.

Remittances should be sent to us by Bank Draft, P.O. Money Order, Express Order, Postal Note or Registered Letter.

The Kindergarten System

(the true Frœbel Method, and not the imperfect attempts at adapting or reproducing certain features of the system) is rapidly gaining ground as an important factor in the early education of children not only in Europe, but also in the United States.

No other method of instruction lays so solid and lasting a foundation for the future education of the child and, in recognition of this fact, the movement is extending to make this pre-primary education an important part of the public school system.

This has already been successfully accomplished in St. Louis and other cities, and the friends of the effort assert that, as a result, a saving of at least a year in the school-life of the children is gained —and a consequent reduction in the public school expenditures.

Private Institutions—both large and small—in all sections of the country are adding a Kindergarten Department to their Course of Study in deference to the wishes of their patrons, and wherever the system is correctly taught, the results amply justify the experiment.

But by far the greatest attention is being paid to the true Frœbel Kindergarten Method by the Managers of Academies and Schools connected with religious societies.

It is at once apparent to all who investigate the merits of the system that the true Kindergarten Method is, in an especial manner, calculated to educate the heart, to develop the faculties that underlie the religious nature of the children and to make of them sympathetic, thinking, and practical Christians.

For this reason it is that the Sisters of Charity and many other of the more progressive educators that could be named both in the Catholic and Protestant Churches, have embraced this "New Education" with the greatest enthusiasm, and as the interest increases a pleasant and most commendable rivalry is likely to spring up which cannot but work the best results to the children in the schools and, through them, to society and the world.

For the past ten years the undersigned has taken a personal and ever-increasing interest in the spread of the Kindergarten system—as taught by Frœbel. He recognizes in it a means for securing the greater effectiveness of educational methods and results, and in the future as in the past will exert himself to extend the knowledge of the system in the United States.

To this end, he desires to state that he will gladly furnish to all persons who wish to know more of the principles and merits of the true Kindergarten System, such information and suggestions as he may be able to communicate.

New York. E. Steiger.

What is the Purpose of Kindergarten-Education?

It is to develop the child and all its faculties in a natural manner, while checking all propensities to evil. The "New Education" may be regarded as analogous to the treatment of plants by a skilful gardener.

It is to apply the maternal instinct intelligently, to make the conscientious mother in easy circumstances her child's best educator during its tenderest years.

It is to associate children with children, in a pure atmosphere, amid pleasant surroundings, and under a special guidance, during the three or four years intervening between the nursery and the primary school.

It is to afford children all proper, rational enjoyment; to supply them with toys and games, to sing with them, to play with them, — the toys, games, songs, and plays being all covert vehicles of instruction.

It is to promote children's healthy activity; later to awaken their imagination gradually to the influence of the beautiful, the true, and the good; to stimulate their imitative and inventive capacity; to aid the development of their reason; and to give those powers free exercise and a right direction.

It is to prevent any undue strain on children's powers, mental or physical, — to teach by means of object lessons conveyed in plays rather than by books.

It is to form a well-balanced mind, to discern and bring out gently, but surely, any latent aptitude for intellectual acquirements, artistic gifts, or manual skill.

It is to partially relieve parents of slender means of the charge of their very young children for part of the day, and during that time to train them properly.

It is finally to prepare children for school, to fit them for learning more readily, to sow the first seeds that are to produce adults of sound mind in a sound body, — good citizens and true Christians.

The Beneficial Effects of Kindergarten Education.

(Opinions of practical Kindergartners, communicated to the U. S. Bureau of Education in reply to inquiries.)

"Happiness, comfort, and justice create a healthy atmosphere of kindness and love, strengthening mind and body in a natural and harmonious development of good habits and an independent and responsible character, without injuring the individual powers." — "Develops gradually and symmetrically the whole nature; educates eye and hand, excites and trains powers of perception and conception, and fosters love, reverence, and other moral attributes." — "Harmonious development of body and mind, inculcating habits of thought, and making the child neat and patient in work." — "Remarkably beneficial, giving a soundness and balance of mind not afforded by any other system, and preparing the child for future school work in an admirable manner."—"Strengthens the body, educates the eye and hand, excites and trains powers of perception and conception, and fosters a love of that which is harmonious, symmetrical and beautiful."— "It strenghtens the body, exercises the senses, and develops all the faculties in a natural manner." — "Instructs in manners and polite habits, as well as habits of regularity, obedience, and self-control, and cultivates the imaginative and inventive powers." — "It is a development of mind, heart, and body, making the child intelligent, kind, and self-dependent."— "Children are notably healthy under Kindergarten influence, their perceptions are rendered more acute, and they are better trained for more advanced grades of study." — "Promotes healthy activity of mind and body, develops the reasoning power and awakens the imagination to the influence of the good and beautiful, prevents undue strain on the powers and insures superior application to after studies." — "Develops vigor, agility, and grace of body, skill of manipulation, keenness of observation, readiness of language, taste in design, unselfishness, and delight in the good and beautiful."

Steiger's Kindergarten Material.

The First Gift.
The Balls.

Aim: to teach color (primary: red, blue, yellow, and secondary or mixed: purple, green, orange), direction (forward and backward, right and left, up and down); to train the eye; and to exercise the hands, arms and feet in various plays.

No. 1. A set of six worsted balls, of the rainbow or standard kindergarten colors, with strings. In a wooden box with cross-beam for hanging the balls. With Directions (Froebel's First Gift for Babies). $0.75.

1a. The same as above, except that the balls are of rubber, covered by a crochet or netting of worsted. $1.00.

2. A set of the six worsted balls, loose, without box. $0.50.

Directions for the use of the First Gift are contained in KRAUS' Guide. Number One. In paper. $0.35.

The Second Gift.
Sphere, Cylinder, and Cube.

Aim: to teach form and to direct the attention of the child to the similarity and dissimilarity existing between different objects. This is done by pointing out, explaining, and counting the sides, corners, and edges of the cube; by showing that the sphere, the cylinder, and the cube differ from one another in their several properties on account of their difference of shape; by pointing out that the apparent form of the sphere is unchanged, however looked at, but that the apparent forms of both the cube and the cylinder vary according to the point from which they are viewed.

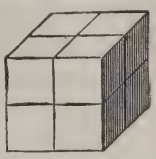
11. A set consisting of a sphere, a sylinder, and two cubes — neatly made of wood and provided with the necessary staples, holes, and strings. In a varnished cherry-wood box with cross-beam for hanging the forms. $0.60.

Directions for the use of the Second Gift are contained in KRAUS' Guide, Number One. In paper. $0.35.

The Third Gift.
Frœbel's First Building Box.

Aim; to illustrate form and number, and also to give the first ideas of fractions, symmetry, etc.

21. A large cube (2×2×2″) equally divided into 8 small cubes (each containing 1 cubic inch). In a varnished cherry-wood box. $0.20



Diagrams and Directions for the use of the Third Gift are contained in KRAUS' Guide, Number Two. In paper. $0.70;

and, separately, in the special reprint therefrom:

The Third Gift. In paper. $0.30.

The Fourth Gift.
Frœbel's Second Building Box.

The aim of the Fourth Gift is similar to that of the Third; but it gives rise to the observation of similarity and dissimilarity, and allows a very varied and interesting application in the production of forms of knowledge (or mathematical forms), of beauty (or symmetry), and of life.

31. A large cube (2×2×2″) divided into 8 equal oblong blocks (each $^1/_2$×1×2″). In a varnished cherry-wood box. $0.20.

35. Frœbel's Kindergarten Occupations for the Family. No. 15. (Building Number One.) In a paper box with chromo-lithographed cover. $0.75.

This box contains 8 cubes (1×1×1″ and 8 oblong blocks (2×1×$^1/_2$″). With Diagrams and Instructions (The Third and Fourth Gift from KRAUS' Guide).

and separately, in the special reprint therefrom:

The Fourth Gift. In paper. $0.30.

The Fifth Gift.
Frœbel's Third Building Box.

This is a continuation of, and a complement to, the Third Gift; it admits of a more extended application than the Third and Fourth.

41. A large cube (3×3×3″) divided into 21 whole cubes (each containing 1 cubic inch), 6 half and 12 quarter cubes. In a varnished cherry-wood box. $0.40.

This box contains 21 cubes (1×1×1″), 6 half and 12 quarter cubes. With Diagrams and Instructions (The Fifth Gift, from KRAUS' Guide).

The Fifth Gift B.
The Child's Fifth Building Box.

46. A large cube (3×3×3″), as a combination of the Second and Fifth Gifts, divided into 12 cubes (each 1×1×1″), 8 additional cubes from each of which one corner is removed corresponding in size to one quarter of a cylinder; 6 cylinders (each 1×1×1″) divided into half cylinders, and 3 cubes (each 1×1×1″) divided diagonally into quarter cubes. Strips of colored paper are, by means of a steel or wooden needle of peculiar construction, woven into another (differently colored) leaf of paper, which is cut into strips throughout its entire surface, except that a margin is left at each end to keep the strips in their places. A very great variety of designs is thus produced, and the inventive powers of teacher and pupil are constantly stimulated.

Note.—The above quoted lists of Material which experienced Kindergartners consider sufficient as an outfit for 25 or 12 children respectively, may be materially modified according to circumstances. A considerable saving can be effected by purchasing e. g. No. 21, 31, 61, 71, etc. without boxes (loose in paper). Of other items smaller quantities might be purchased. On the other hand, the selection may be made far more complete, according to the judgment of the Kindergartner.

☞ We shall furnish such quantities at reduced prices, according to special agreement.

The Catalogue on the foregoing pages supersedes all Lists previously issued; upon comparison considerable additions will be noticed, which increased manufacturing facilities have enabled us to make.

However extensive this Catalogue, it does not comprise all our stock of Kindergarten Gifts, Occupation Material, Furniture, etc. Many kindred articles are on hand, and new additions are continually being produced as fast as circumstances permit to carry out our plans and desires of promoting whatever tends to the development and popularization of the Kindergarten System. — The Thread Game, the Point-Laying, the Painting, the Silver Canvas goods, etc. enumerated on the preceding pages may be regarded as evidences of such activity.

☞ The designation by numbers (No.) of the several articles in this Catalogue is an arbritrary one made by us for the purpose of enabling customers to be precise in ordering. Our numbering does not agree with that adopted by other dealers, and appearing in other catalogues and lists.

To prevent mistakes, our customers are, therefore, requested to mention expressly: Steiger's Kindergarten Material, and then state Quantity desired, No., Name of article, and the Price quoted in this Catalogue (for instance : 10 No. 21, Third Gift @ $0.20.)

Such care in making out orders will prove advantageous to customers.

The

containing Building Blocks of artificial stone in 3 natural colors (brick-red, sandstone - yellow, slate - blue), and colored building designs.

The "Anchor Boxes" may be considered a new stage in the development of Fröbel's ideas; they are highly appreciated as an occupation by which the child's mind is early trained and led into the right direction. It is further acknowledged as a fact that the occupation of building is a good preventive against that craving for reading which so many children possess. The conviction has become more and more general that it is of no benefit to the children to give them too much to read, as owing to the haste with which most books are read, the children get but a shallow understanding of what they read and besides, it makes them nervous. But the "Anchor Boxes" on the contrary afford a beneficial rest to the child's mind, as the little builder knows too well that he does not reach his aim any sooner by too much haste; he must calmly consider everything, if he will solve his problem and this circumstance alone gives the "Anchor Boxes" the character of a most important means of education.

The Illustrated London News says: "As in-door playthings for ingenious little children, toy bricks and tiles are commendable, and much is learnt by their use. Messrs. F. Ad. Richter & Co. have introduced a great improvement, choosing a new material for these toys, fine composition stone, not painted but substance-colored, in imitation of yellow sandstone, red brick, and blue slate. The pieces are all cut with the nicest precision, in many shapes and sizes; the putting together of which is a good education for the tasteful eye, as well as for the mechanical faculty. Many directors of schools and teachers of art have testified their approbation of the "Anchor Boxes", which have been adopted by the Crown Princess, and by other ladies of the highest rank, for use in the Imperial and Royal nurseries, and which might afford no unworthy amusement to persons of mature age. We have seen a large box, cantaining bricks, a few short pillars, and pieces that combine to form arches, from which many handsome architectural designs could be produced; and a small box of tiles for mosaic pavement, which easily falls into beautiful arrangements, the colors being subdued and harmonious with each other, and really equal those of natural material for the purpose. The substance is pleasant to handle, and will neither chip, shrink, nor wear, nor soften by wetting; nor can the coloring matter be rubbed or washed off. Boxes of twenty different assortments, the prices ranging with the size and weight and number of the pieces, any of which, if lost, can readily be replaced, are offered for sale, with interesting books of instruction".

The "Anchor Boxes" principally distinguish themselves from the building boxes hitherto in use in that they contain real stones instead of wooden blocks. Building with stones in natural colors is for the child not only a pleasant way to pass the time, but it also greatly stimulates his intellectual powers. The designs which are executed with superior taste and great exactness and which are represented in great variety from the simplest to the most complicated, are producing in the child's mind an understanding for measures, proportions and perspective. The ground plans and sections given for the more difficult structures, besides facilitating building, compel the little builder to reflect and give him an idea of the construction of a real building. The supplement system enables even less well-to-do parents to put to the growing intellect of the child more and more difficult problems. When the child has repeatedly constructed the models from the book of designs he will soon be able to erect buildings from his own fancy.

For these reasons we do not hesitate to sincerely recommend these "Anchor Boxes" from a pedagogical point of view to all parents and instructors and we wish that this new occupation may soon be more largely introduced into the families.

12. One layer, 182 stones, small size $4.00

13. Two layers, 259 stones, small size $5.00

Which of the above mentioned Anchor Boxes is the most suitable for our children?

As even the large boxes may be given to young children — the designs accompanying the boxes being so well arranged as to afford amusement for all ages — the only question left to consideration is the amount of money to be invested. As will be seen from the description we give hereafter, every Anchor Box can by the future purchase of a "supplement box" be systematically enlarged, so that those who would like to have one of the larger boxes need not buy an expensive one at once, but they can begin with the very smallest. So, for instance, the smallest box No. 0 can by future purchase of the respective "supplement boxes" be ultimately so enlarged as to be equal to box No. 22. It is generally better to buy a larger box, and parents need not be afraid that the children get too many stones at once, as most of the larger boxes are so arranged that part of the stones and books of designs can be kept back until the young builders have made some progress in the art of building. So, for instance, of box No. 15 one layer can be taken out with the book No. 15 and still the child will be able to erect all the buildings of the book series 11.

In order to give the reader a clear idea of the different sizes of Anchor Boxes, we have furnished of each box a building design. Though being drawn on a reduced scale, the designs will sufficiently show what kind of buildings can be constructed with the different boxes. The height of the buildings is easily ascertained by counting the layers, a cube of the small caliber measuring $^3/_4$ inch and of the large caliber 1 inch in height.

On looking through the descriptions of the various boxes, the attentive reader will find that the very large buildings are executed with stones of large caliber; thus it follows, that those who intend to erect by and by the very largest buildings should commence with a box containing stones of large caliber.

Of all occupations for children, Building is one of the most useful. It trains eyes and hands, develops the sense of the beautiful and the intellectual faculties, and strengthens the child's judgment.

With a view to these advantages for the child, the above building-plays are specially recommended. The unit of all building is the cube, from which all other forms are developed, according to the system of Frœbel.

The drawings which accompany these plays, are numerous and so carefully presented, that they can be followed without any difficulty even by young children. On the other hand they serve as the basis of numberless variations, with which the attentive and inventive child will busy himself.

These Boxes are primarily intended for children who are unable to attend a Kindergarten regularly, and also as a substitute for toys and playthings generally. Stated more precisely, however, their design is, to provide children of 3 years and over with instructive and quiet amusement, and to quicken their intellect without wearying the brain — to inculcate manual skill, artistic taste, a ready appreciation of results, and, consequently, a love of learning and application — to train children's minds through apparent play and recreation, while they are the means of producing little presents — to prepare children for school, and render home instruction easy and entertaining, without requiring constant attention.

Einfache Recepte, erprobte Hausmittel und practische Winke für Familienväter, Hausfrauen, Hausbesitzer, Gewerbetreibende und Handwerker. Nebst einem deutsch-englischen Verzeichnisse chemisch-technischer und vieler anderen Kunstausdrücke.

C. Stürenburg und C. Steiger.

Broschirt $0.60; in Leinen gebunden $0.80.
Auch in 4 Abtheilungen (No. 1, 2, 3 @ 15 Cts., No. 4 @ 25 Cts.) zu haben.

Wie zu „Auskunft und Rath für Deutsch-Amerikaner in den wichtigsten Fragen des öffentlichen, Rechts-, Geschäfts- und Privat-Lebens", so haben auch für das vorliegende Werk die auf Fragen der Hauswirthschaft, des Kleingewerbes und Handwerkes, sowie der Gesundheitspflege bezüglichen Antworten im „Briefkasten" der „N. Y. Staats-Zeitung" die erste Anregung gegeben. Und in dieser Hinsicht bildet dieses Buch gewissermaßen die Fortsetzung des anderen. Im Uebrigen aber besteht jedes nach Inhalt und Form für sich als ein völlig selbstständiges Ganzes.

In der Praxis geprüft und bewährt gefunden, werden die hier mitgetheilten Recepte und Erfahrungen, Rathschläge und Winke für jede deutsche Familie in Nord-Amerika sich als eine Quelle von Vortheil und Nutzen erweisen. Durch die alphabetische Anordnung des Stoffes aber wird der Gebrauch des Buches wesentlich erleichtert: man sucht nur das betreffende Stichwort und findet sofort die gewünschte Auskunft über Dasjenige, was in Haus und Hof, in der Familie bei Krankheitsfällen und in der gewerblichen Praxis tagtäglich vorkommt. Dabei sind für sämmtliche Recepte die in Amerika gebräuchlichen Maße und Gewichte angegeben, während die verkommenden technischen Ausdrücke und chemischen Bezeichnungen in einem, als Anhang gedruckten deutsch-englischen Wörterverzeichnisse ihre Erklärung finden.

Wie vielseitig, praktisch und werthvoll das Buch ist, ergibt sich aus dem folgenden Inhaltsverzeichnisse:

In vorstehender Liste sind die Preise für den Jahrgang, sowie auch, wenn so zu haben, ℔ Halbjahr, Vierteljahr, oder einzelnes Heft angegeben. Der Jahrgang beginnt mit Januar, ausser wenn anders beibemerkt ist. Die Beträge sind im Voraus zahlbar. — Da bei jeder halbjährlichen oder vierteljährlichen Subscription Mühe und Kosten für Anfragen, Expedition, Buchung, Incasso u. s. w. gerade so gross sind, wie wenn der ganze Jahrgang auf einmal berechnet wird, so muss der Subscriptions-Preis auf die meisten Zeitschriften bei nur 6 oder 3 Monaten verhältnissmässig höher berechnet werden, als bei Bezug des vollen Jahrganges. — Dagegen wird ausdrücklich garantirt, dass auf Wunsch auch im Laufe der längeren Subscription eine Abbestellung auf einen kürzeren Termin gemacht werden darf, in welchem Falle der zuvielbezahlte Betrag zurückvergütet wird. — Alle anderen Zeitschriften werden ebenfalls besorgt, und ist Liste derselben gratis zu haben. Wir garantiren gute Verpackung und prompte Lieferung an unsere Abonnenten wenige Stunden nach Ankunft des Dampfers.

E. Steiger & Co., 25 Park Place, New York, halten Vorrath von den obengenannten Zeitschriften, und können Bestellungen darauf sofort ausführen, besorgen aber auch in kürzester Zeit alle anderen Zeitschriften und Zeitungen, welche in Nord-Amerika, Deutschland, Oesterreich und der Schweiz, in England, Frankreich und anderen Ländern erscheinen.

Into this Series of Readers is introduced the rational or developing system of instruction, as practiced in the best Swiss and German schools. This being the first time that such a plan has been adopted in any work professing to teach the Elements of the English language, the author has bestowed upon his production the distinguishing title of Rational Reades. By a frequent intermixture of notes for the teacher with the spelling and reading exercises, it is hoped that the design is so clearly presented that those teachers even who have not had a previous opportunity of thoroughly studying it, may be enabled at once to comprehend it in all its details, and to use these books with pleasure and success.

Now for sale, the Third Edition of the most valuable pedagogical work,

THE CYCLOPÆDIA OF EDUCATION:

A Dictionary of Information for the use of Teachers, School Officers, Parents, and Others. Edited by HENRY KIDDLE and A. J. SCHEM.

This important work has secured an acknowledged position as the one standard educational authority in the English language. The simple fact that this is the first — and was, until the appearance of the Dictionary of Education and Instruction, the only — publication of its kind in English literature, sufficiently indicates the difficulty of its preparation. It is due to the fortunate association of the editors, Mr. Henry Kiddle and Prof. Alex. J. Schem, who were preeminently fitted for this work, and regarded it truly as a labor of love, that this Cyclopædia at once gained universal recognition here and in all other countries. Each year has served to give the Cyclopædia still greater prominence and to strengthen the position it has attained.

Agreeing with the recommendations of State and City Superintendents of Schools, and other practical educators, and of educational and literary journals, both in America and Europe, the Cyclopædia of Education has been recommended as the very first in a List of "Ten Books for Teachers" which List was formed by a selection from more than 200 works.

The Cyclopædia of Education is issued in one large octavo volume of about 900 pages, in the styles and at the prices which follow, viz.: in Paper Cover, uncut edges $4.00 (also in 4 divisions at $1.00 each); bound in Cloth $5.00 — and uniform with Appleton's American Cyclopædia, in Library Leather $6.00; in Half Morocco $7.00; in Half Russia, extra gilt $8.00; in Full Morocco, or Russia, with gilt edges $10.00.

Now for sale also the Third Edition of

THE DICTIONARY OF EDUCATION AND INSTRUCTION:

A Reference Book and Manual on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, for the use of Parents, Teachers, and Others; Based upon the CYCLOPÆDIA OF EDUCATION. By HENRY KIDDLE and A. J. SCHEM.

The special objects designed to be attained by the publication of the Dictionary (first issued in 1881) are: (1) to supply a brief compendium of the theory and practice of education in a series of clear and definite articles, alphabetically arranged so as to be easily referred to, or systematically studied; (2) to encourage in this way the study by teachers of the principles and practice of their profession, thus giving to the work of education a greater degree of intelligence and efficiency; (3) to afford a convenient class manual of pedagogy for use in normal schools and teachers' institutes as the basis of a course of instruction in principles and methods, not necessarily superseding other valuable manuals differently arranged, but accompanying and strengthening them; (4) to supply, at a small cost, to every teacher that portion of the Cyclopædia which is of especial value in practical education, reserving this larger work for occasional reference, particularly when information regarding educational history, biography, and statistics is needed; and (5) to supply a useful hand-book to parents in the home education of their children.

The Dictionary of Education and Instruction contains articles on the following, viz.:

Age in Education — Algebra — Alphabet Method — Grammatical Analysis — Analytic Method of Teaching — Arithmetic — Astronomy — Attention — Authority — Botany — Calisthenics — Discernment of Character — Class — Color — Composition — Conception — Concert Teaching — Culture of Conscience — Conversational Method — Course of Instruction — Culture - Developing Method — Didactics — Discipline — Drawing — Cultivation of the Ear — Education — Theory of Education — Empirical Methods — Emulation — Study of English — English Literature — Esthetic Culture — Cultivation of the Eye — Form — Geography — Geometry — School Government — English Grammar — Harmony in Development — History — Home Education — Home Lessons — School Hygiene — Culture of Imagination — Instruction — Intellectual Education — Training of Judgment — Kindergarten — Language — Lectures — Mathematics — Memory — Moral Education — Normal School — Number — Object Teaching — Oral Instruction — Orthography — Phonetics — Physical Education — Psychology — Punishment — Reading — Recitation — Religious Education — Rhetoric — Role Teaching — School Furniture — School Management — School Records — The Teaching of Science — Self Education — The Education of the Senses — Normal Schools, or Teacher's Seminaries — Singing — Social Economy — Text-Books — Ventilation — Culture of the Voice — Word Method — Analysis of Words — Zoölogy, etc.; also shorter notices or mention of many others, and — as an Appendix—a valuable List of Educational Works for professional study and reference prepared especially for the Dictionary by W. H. Payne, Professor of the Science and the Art of Teaching in the University of Michigan.

This book is a volume of 332 pp. 12mo., bound in Cloth, and sells at the low price of $1.50.

The Paper Cover Edition of the Dictionary of Education and Instruction contains the whole of this work except the Appendix (Prof. Payne's List of Educational Works). 298 pp. carefully sewed and done up in paper cover. Price only $0.75, upon receipt of which (in Postage Stamps, etc.) copies will be forwarded to any address.

☞ At this extremely low price the Dictionary comes within easy reach not only of all teachers, but also of parents and young people of progressive inclination.

JAMES CONNOR. Conversation-Book in French, German, and English. Clo. $1.05

The Importance of teaching German conceded.

In June 1889, no less than 7 of the 8 members of a specially appointed Committee of the Board of Education, recommended that instruction in German and French, in the Public Schools of New York City, be altogether abolished.

Since then this matter has been carefully considered with the result that the importance of teaching a foreign language, and especially German, as a regular branch of study is, for various reasons, now conceded by all.

At the meeting of the Board of Education on December 11th, abolition of the study of German and French, which only a few months ago was urged and confidently predicted, had no supporters at all; on the contrary: twelve members voted for extending the instruction (from a 3 years' —as at present) to a 5 years' course; the largely outnumbered opposition of only five members contented itself with voting for restricting the instruction to a 3 years' course, i. e. for making no change whatever.

This is a most significant outcome of the agitation of a question that has been considered in hundreds of cities and towns, and Principals of Schools as well as Boards of Education, hitherto opposed to teaching foreign languages, will now likewise advocate the introduction of this branch of study, which is demanded by the universal progress, by educational and business considerations.

☞ Schools in which modern languages are being taught, will hereafter be preferred to others, in which such instruction is not given.

☞ The text-books by the use of which, for the past 18 years, most satisfactory results in learning to read, write and speak German correctly have been obtained in the Public Schools of New York and many other cities, are the small and inexpensive volumes of the rational, practical and easy AHN-HENN German Course, which consists of the following:

A few Points.

There is no other series of German text-books equally comprehensive within so comparatively small a compass, as AHN-HENN'S First, Second, Third, and Fourth German Books (which form the Complete Method of the German Language);

no other series so thoroughly covers the entire course of study in German from the lowest grade to the highest, from the elementary school to the College;

no other series is so completely provided with all needful accessories, such as Reading Charts, Keys, and Readers;

no other series is so strictly a manual for schoolwork, furnishing a Complete German Course for graded, as well as for ungraded and private schools; no other series is so carefully framed in its exercises, conversations, etc., to meet the known wants and inclinations of American school-children, and always with a due regard to the time usually allotted to the study of the German language.

In a word, there is no other series prepared in such a manner, as at once to attract the beginner by the novelty of the plan, and also to satisfy the student in the higher grades by the simple and practical treatment both of Etymology and Syntax.

In regard to the latter point, the superiority of this series must be evident upon even only a cursory examination of the Fourth German Book.

In connection with HENN-AHN'S German Grammar the annotated Readers and other books of the AHN-HENN Course may be used to great advantage.

Specimen pages mailed free. — The best possible terms for introduction.

* We state here expressly that the AHN-HENN Complete German Method, which is justly the favorite book for instruction in public and private schools, and for preparation to scientific study of the German language, will continue to be kept in the market for those in America who, like millions of others in Germany, still prefer the accustomed German Orthography which was universally taught in Germany until 1880.

☞ Thorough Study of Latin made easy ☜

Most Latin grammars now in use task the beginner with a mass of grammatical detail which is worse than useless, a bar to progress all the more irritating because unnecessary. Hence the wide-spread demand for a grammar that contains everything of importance for all learners, including those who contemplate a collegiate course of study, while it studiously omits matters of disputed usage, the study of which will offer no difficulty whatever to the college-student, to whom they properly belong.

AHN-HENN'S Latin Grammar, and the other books of this Latin Series are the realization of this view, and particular attention is invited to the following distinctive features:

1. The best Orthography is exhibited; Quantity is marked throughout, besides Syllabification and Accent in paradigms.

2. Etymology is carefully treated. Without being cumbersome, this Course is believed to be more full and complete, especially in the illustrative examples in Declension and Conjugation, than any other Latin grammar now in use. On these points a comparison will show how simple, practical and clear it is.

3. The Derivative Endings (Word-formation) are thoroughly illustrated and classified.

4. Syntax is logically treated in every part. Though brief, it is very comprehensive and so clear in its statements that this subject, generally considered so difficult, is easily understood. The construction of Prepositions, commonly left to the Dictionary, receives here, for the first time, the attention that is its due in a school grammar.

5. The clear and compendious description of the Metres, and especially the full Alphabetical Index of Subjects are very important.

6. The usefulness of these books is increased by judicious typographical arrangement.

AHN-HENN'S Latin Courses furnish an excellent preparation for any of the Latin grammars used at College, the difficulties in which will be mastered all the better when the groundwork has been securely learned from any of the AHN-HENN Courses.

Even for Colleges, where a six years' course of Latin is pursued AHN'S First, Second and Third Latin Books have been adopted as the best books for elementary instruction, and recently the Complete Latin Syntax and its companion volume, the Manual of Latin Prose Composition have been prepared for use in the highest classes, so that now the AHN-HENN Latin Course fully meets all the requirements of easy yet full and thorough study of Latin.

On the other hand, the Short Latin Course (which contains Grammar, Exercises for double translation, and Reading Lessons together with vocabularies, all in one small volume) has been prepared for use in schools where Latin can be studied only for one or two years.

Particular attention is invited to the Wall Charts and the Vocabulary which are unique, and may be used advantageously also in connection with any other Latin Course. The First, Second and Third Latin Books offer an abundance of Exercises for double translation, of which the teacher may use all, or a portion only, as his judgment or other circumstances may dictate. The Vocabularies in these three books contain every Latin and English word occurring in the exercises. The Readers furnish the best classic Latin.

The books are printed in large, clear type, and issued in superior style at low prices. Favorable terms for introduction. Specimen copies sent to teachers upon receipt of half the advertised price.
